LOVE STORIES

For St. Valentine's Day.

This Combination Will be a Feature of

THE WASHINGTON HERALD

Next Sunday, February 13, 1910

Everybody likes love stories, because, after all, love is the ruling passion of life. Everybody will like the love stories that have been collected for this Valentine Number of our magazine section, because they are strong and wholesome and withal an appeal to real men and women.

The big story of the valentine number of our magazine section is William Chester Estabrook's "The Love Coaxer." It is essentially humorous and altogether unique in plot. Mr. Estabrook has a wide reputation as a writer of humorous stories, and "The Love Coaxer" is one of the best things he has written.

When you read the "Tigress of Cordoba" next Sunday, you'll find a love story that is different. It is a story of romantic adventure, with a heroine from the mountain fastnesses of Mexico-a beautiful woman, but after all somewhat of a savage. It is by the well-known short story writer, Svetovar Tonjoroff.

The third love story is entitled "Lanagan Also Ran," and is the tale of the transformation of a young college man whose disposition to trail along behind gives the title. It is by Harry Lee Snyder.

In addition to these stories, the magazine will have the usual lot of other stories and special articles. Among the latter is a stirring story of real heroes-the lighthouse and life-saving men around Cape Hatteras and the famous Diamond Shoals. Their deeds of heroism are simply told, but they are powerful, nevertheless, and will make your pulses beat.

Some of the other topics which will prove of interest are the following:

Publicity in Divorce Cases in America and Europe, Apostolic Delegate in Washington a Diplomat, Prince-Priest in Franciscan Monastery, Commission Plan in Seventy-five Cities, The Vanguard of Spring Millinery, Influence of Mind Upon Body, New Ideals Arise as Man Progresses, Famous Songs and Their History.

North Dakota has been in the limelight by the rapid succession with which its Senators have been changing. One of the interesting men who came from that State to Washington was Fountain L. Thompson, of whom James B. Morrow gives an entertaining sketch this week.

Prices are high because men from the country, he points out, are moving to towns and cities to be railway employes, mechanics, and clerks and from being producers of food are changed into consumers. Says that farm laborers in the West want plenty to eat, soft beds, light work, and big wages, and are even then alert for excuses to leave their places and try their fortunes somewhere else. He declares that he is an old-fashioned Democrat, but sees no chance of electing a President unless his party reduces and modernizes its issues so as to satisfy sensible and prudent

Shackleford Elected Judge. The general assembly unanimously elected George S. Shackleford, of Orange, as judge of the Ninth judicial circuit. Gov. Mann sent a message to the senate recommending the union for educational-agricultural purposes between the United States Department of Agriculture, the Virginia agricultural station, the State board of education, and the State board of agriculture.

The committee of the senate and house on insurance and banking, in joint session, decided on a bill, which will be reported to both houses. It is practically along the lines of the measure introduced by Judge Martin Williams, extending the existing supervision of the State corporation commission over State banks, which are State depositories to all State banks. The divorce bill was not acted on, owing to lack of attendance on the part of members of the committee.

Bulletin.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY AT SEASHORE.

On Saturday, February 12, the nation will celebrate the one-hundredth and first anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Occurring on Saturday, this holiday offers an exceptional opportunity for a week-end outing at the seashore.

New Jersey's forty beaches offer the best place in which to spend this outing, and the Pennsylvania Railroad is the natural short line to all of the resorts,

The lure of Atlantic City is always strong, especially at this season of the year. Its piers, its theaters, its in- and outof-door amusements, and its great hotels fill day and night with

Cape May with its wonderful beach, its magnificent golf course, its always balmy temperature, and its comfortable hostelries is none the less delightful.

A look at the time tables of the Pennsylvania Railroad and a consultation with any of its Ticket Agents will convince one that the seashore is the place to spend Lincoln's Birthday and the Pennsylvania Railroad the route to take.
